Presents:

CO-OCCURRING DISORDERS FROM AN ADDICTION PERSPECTIVE

with Mary R. Woods, RNC, LADC, MSHS

A 6 HOUR TRAINING EVENT ON THURSDAY, APRIL 1, 2010

8:30 a.m. – 3:30 p.m. (registration begins at 8:00 a.m.)

at Dr. Thomas Fox Memorial Chapel, Main Bldg., 105 Pleasant Street, Concord, NH

DESCRIPTION: Co-occurring disorders is an ill defined term that means many things, depending on your own belief system and who your agency is funded to treat. According to SAMHSA's data, 50-75% of people coming into treatment for substance use disorders have a co-occurring mental health disorder. There are also medical and developmental disorders that complicate treatment for substance use disorders and can have a profound effect on relapse and recovery. Fetal Alcohol Syndrome is often overlooked in adults who present as having a personality disorder or a mental illness. Every addiction professional needs to be skilled in screening for co-occurring disorders, needs to understand effective treatment interventions for co-occurring disorders and understand current scope of practice limitations related to treating co-occurring disorders. This workshop will:

- Discuss the current bias around co-occurring disorders
- Review the history of co-occurring disorders
- Review clinical profiles of people who come into addiction treatment
- Review assessment of Fetal Alcohol Syndrome & Fetal Alcohol Effects
- Review assessment tools & best practice treatment interventions
- Discuss scope of practice and how it relates to treatment of co-occurring disorders
